Trauma Symposium - Mass Incarceration

Dr. Crumpton & Dr. Barbara Wilson & Guests

The Equal Justice Initiative (EJI) believes that “ending mass incarceration is the civil rights issue of our time.” What is mass incarceration and what is its relationship to criminal justice reform? In the words of Michelle Alexander, The New Jim Crow, “we have not ended racial caste in America; we have merely redesigned it.” These two webinars are our opportunity to learn about and to deepen our understanding of mass incarceration, consider practical models for criminal justice reform and avenues of spiritual engagement to undergird collective sustainability.

Keynote Address: “Elegy for Justice” Kaia Stern

This address will offer a kind of sermon for justice itself. Beginning with grief, it will focus on how we imprison the most vulnerable among us in the name of justice. It will then praise the idealized part of justice as dead in terms of kinship, suggesting the good news that we are kin, despite relational amnesia. Finally, it will consider solace and the urgency for an ethic that moves beyond the logic of punishment and shifts from coercion to recognition.
